

Experience...

Presently I'm working as a free-lance artist in several different areas. Web Design, Graphic design, 2D & 3D animation, photography, and computer illustration. Samples of my work may be viewed on my web site at www.mwalsh.info

01-10-1988 to 07-01-2002, Quantum Group/Career & Education Network (CEN). Quantum Group was a full service video production company that was created from scratch on the reputations of myself and a few other key people. Working as art director, animator, creative director and producer. I was responsible for producing all of the high end 3D animation and graphics for broadcast, advertising and corporate communications videos. As creative director, art director or producer on many corporate communication and advertising videos I worked extensively on location, in the studio and in the edit bay seeing each project through from concept to completion. Other responsibilities included design and construction of studio "sets", miniatures, and special effects for the production division. In 1992 Quantum Group created a new company called Career & Education Network. Along with my duties for Quantum Group I was responsible for pre-press print design, web design, animation and video production for CEN as well. In 1996 Quantum Group and CEN became just CEN. My responsibilities expanded at that time when we put together an in-house marketing and advertising department. I was responsible all the for-mentioned duties along with working with the creative team on conceptualizing and marketing strategy along with overseeing print publication production. At CEN I was also responsible for some of the day-to-day IT/ computer software and hardware needs.

1979 to 1988, Kartes Video Communications. This was my first professional job out of collage. At Kartes Video Communications I started as a production assistant but quickly started using my skills as an artist and animator to create a company art department. I designed and built sets, props, miniatures and art directed commercials and corporate videos. In 1979 we didn't have computers so my work was done the old fashioned way, by hand. Things have sure changed.

Over the past twenty-five years I've worked in most every aspect of the creative, video, photography, print and web production environment. During this time my work has won or contributed to winning many national, international and local awards including: Tellys, Addys, Cine Golden Eagles, an Emmy and many more.
