

Forward...

With more than 30 years of art, design, web design, marketing, photography, video production and creative experience I've solved numerous problems in all the above areas. I feel my greatest strength is in my versatility. The majority of my professional life has been in video production as an animator but the last 10 years or so my focus has shifted primarily to web design specifically user interface design.

Experience...

May 2006 to Present - I am currently working as Art Director/Creative Director at Tomar Electronics Inc. My duties at Tomar include the design and day-to-day management of the companies four web sites and design all the company print marketing materials, I'm responsible for product and application photography, and I write, produce, direct, animate and edit all company video productions. My position at Tomar Electronics has allowed me to continue working in all the fields I have enjoyed over my career. I'm responsible for cost effectively presenting Tomar's many products at their best in all medias. My work at Tomar may be seen at: www.tomar.com 2002-2006 - I worked as a free-lance artist in graphic design, web design, 2D & 3D animation, photography, computer illustration and short-run printing. Samples of my work may be viewed on my web site at www.mwalsh.info. I still pursue freelance work for the variety and to keep my skills sharp.

1988 to 2002 - Quantum Group/CEN. Quantum Group was a full service video production company that was created from scratch on the reputations of myself and a few other key people. Working as art director/animator I was responsible for producing all of the high-end 3D animation and graphics for Quantum Group. I also worked on location, in the studio and extensively in the edit bay and engineering. I was also responsible for the design and construction of sets and models, for the production division. In 1992 Quantum Group started a new company called Career & Education Network (CEN). Along with my duties for Quantum Group I was responsible for pre-press print design, web design, animation and video production for CEN. In 1996 Quantum Group and CEN became CEN full time. For CEN I was responsible all the for-mentioned duties along with all CEN marketing materials from concept to completion. I also was responsible for most in house IT and some managerial aspects of the company.

1979 to 1988 - Kartes Video Communications. My responsibilities at Kartes were virtually the same as Quantum Group. However most of my work was done before the advent of affordable 3D animation computers/software. So animation was done the old fashioned way by hand with ink and paint on cells.

Over the past twenty-five years I've worked in just about every capacity of the video, print and web production environment. During this time my work has won or contributed to winning many awards including: Tellys, Cine Golden Eagles, an Emmy and many local advertising awards.
